

the Service Factor

Walk A Mile In Their Shoes

(Half-Day Workshop)

In an exciting world of technological advancement, unfortunately our attention to service has taken a back seat and it is time to bring it back to the forefront in our businesses.

No matter how good your product is, unless it is connected to great service and walking in the shoes of your clients, it will never reach its potential.

Great service is everyone's responsibility.

This workshop will help to get everyone on the same great service page.
