

Understanding and Managing Behaviour

2026

[It's the differences that make the difference!]

"A very informative course that I'll be able to use to transform individual interactions with staff as well as team interactions and performance."

Kate Vickers

"An opportunity to gain insight into your own patterns of behaviour and how this affects your interaction with others."

Linda Lacey

"Helped me to understand the different behavioural style characteristics and how best to use them to work in a team."

Kris Dalitz

Program Overview

One of the most important components of a contemporary leader's role is to have an understanding of themselves and their behaviours and also the behaviours of those people that they are working with or leading.

When we understand the differences in people and how those differences can actually work together to create a better result, we begin to see an improvement in the way we relate with each other and in the culture within our workplaces, because it is the differences that make the difference.

This half-day interactive virtual workshop will give you answers to why people behave the way they do and will equip you with strategies to initiate better communication and better relationships. During the virtual workshop we will look at Behavioural Styles and how they can be used.
